COAL BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

Niagara Packers Limited Buys Business And Equipment of G. L. Eaton Co.

Mr. G. L. Eaton who has been associated with the coal business in the town of Grimsby for the past twenty-two years, has disposed of the business conducted under the name of the G. L. Eaton Company to Niagara Packers Limited.

The new owners will handle all lines of fuel, including the famous D. L. and W. "blue coal" anthracite and will provide prompt, efficient and courteous service.

The business which has just changed hands was originally conducted by the late W. J. VanDyke from whom it was purchased in 1914 by the late J. W. Eaton, father of Mr. Eaton with whom the latter was associated in the business, it being operated under the name of J. W. Eaton and Son. Following the taking over of the business in 1914 the firm, a couple of years later, built a concrete silo coal handling plant which is situated adjacent to the Niagara Packers' buildings, providing up-to-date facilities for the expeditious handling of the product.

Since the death of his father in 1931, Mr. G. L. Eaton has carried on the business, operating it under the name of the G. L. Eaton Company.

Mr. Eaton who since 1929 has been the capable director of music in the public schools of Grimsby and district, in connection with which a commendably high standard has been attained, will now devote most of his time to this work, his services being in increasing demand in that capacity.

Highway Route From Hamilton To Niagara Is Almost Decided

That the route of the new highway to relieve No. 8 Highway from Hamilton to Niagara River is virtually decided on, is the statement of Mayor Walter Westwood of St. Catharines. He says the new highway will not go through the heart of St. Catharines, according to official information, but will skirt along the northern city line using the lift bridge over the Welland Ship Canal, east of the city, then cutting over to the recently abandoned Welland Canal, where it has been filled in at Queenston Street, and thence via Carleton to the old Welland Canal, where a bridge will be built just northwest of Ridley College.

Merchants in the city wished the new highway to go via the business section, but this, it was felt, would be impossible because of the great congestion of traffic already. The Mayor's information, it is believed, settles all questions as to the route of the new highway in this section.

Some of the sharp corners on the hills west of St. Catharines, on No. 8 Highway, are being remedied by fills. It is announced, however, that the rounded sections cannot be used until next year as the ground added must be given a chance to settle permanently before paving is done.

Was Drowned At Fifteen Beach

David Sproat's first boat ride on Wednesday afternoon of last week ended in tragedy when the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sproat, 2A Wiley Street, St. Catharines, was drowned and four adults narrowly escaped a similar fate at the Fifteen Beach. Emily Sutherland, 84 Westchester Avenue, St. Catharines, slight 17-year-old passenger in the boat in which the party were riding, emerged from the fatality a heroine with the rescue of three lives to her credit.

Grimsby Boy On Vimy Guard of Honor

When the great ocean greyhounds carrying the Vimy Pilgrims sailed out of Montreal Harbor, this Thursday morning, they were conveyed by His Majesty's Canadian Ship Sagway, for the voyage across the Atlantic. When the Sagway ties up in the harbor of Le Havre, it will be the first time in history that a Canadian battle cruiser ever did so.

Aboard the Sagway is First-class Seaman "Jackie" Johnson, son of Frank Johnson, Main Street west, who has been a member of the Canadian Navy for over three years.

Part of the Guard of Honor at the unveiling ceremonies at Vimy on the 26th, is to be formed by the crew from the Sagway, thus bringing another Grimsby boy to the scene of this great event.

TO REPLACE BUILDING BURNED

The new store to replace the burnt building of the Canadian Departmental Store, St. Catharines, will be two stories high, 100 by 100 feet, with basement. The building will have a sprinkler system to prevent fire and a forced air heating system.

GRIMSBY BOY DIES SUDDENLY

Apparently Falls From Log-Body Taken From Two Feet of Water At Lake — Death of Jimmy Hayes Attributed To Heart Attack.

Jimmy Hayes, 14-year-old son of James Hayes, Grimsby, died at Grimsby Wednesday evening under unusual circumstances. The lad had been working near the lake all summer, and had been in the water swimming every day. He was an expert swimmer. Late Wednesday afternoon he was sitting on a partly submerged log a few feet from shore, when he apparently slipped off backward.

Two young Hamilton boys, George Worley and James Smith, only a few feet away, watched bubbles coming up for a minute or so and then decided something was wrong. They lifted him out of water only two feet deep and carried him to shore.

Bathes applied first aid until the arrival of Dr. A. F. McIntyre, who worked over him for some hours. Coroner Dr. Gordon A. Sinclair pronounced life extinct.

His death was later attributed to a heart attack.

He was the eldest child in the family, and is survived by his parents, two sisters and three brothers.

Deaths Exceed Those Of Flu Epidemic

All records for deaths in Hamilton have been shattered by the smothering heat of the last few days. Monday 23 funerals took place in the three cemeteries owned by the city and this is an all-time highest total for one day. The nearest approach to this total was during the influenza epidemic in 1918-20, when on one day 18 burials took place. The undertakers have been hard pressed to cope with the unusual situation.

A noticeable feature of the deaths taking place at the present time is the relatively advanced ages of the deceased. Of the 23 persons buried Monday only one was less than 53 years of age. The remainder ranged all the way up to 88 years and the view is held that in many of these cases the heat wave hastened the end.

WEST LINCOLN LEGION PICNIC

Large Number Attend — Prizes Awarded to Children—Church Service Held.

The executive host of Saturday did not interfere with the attendance of West Lincoln Branch Canadian Legion Annual Picnic, over two hundred children being present and about half as many adults. There was a prize for every child present and they all had a good time and the T.O. noticed that some of the grown up boys had a real splendid outing. Among the guests present were J. E. Kennedy, Reeve of Beamsville; W. T. Fralick, Ex-Warden of Lincoln County, and W. D. Fairbrother, of Beamsville. Officers and members of the Branch, appreciate very much the cash and other gifts donated by generous citizens towards prize.

Church service at St. John's Church, Jordan, was largely attended by Veterans of the District, on Sunday the 12th, when Comrade Rev. Mr. W. Flook gave a splendid sermon on the "Spirit of Loyalty", as it should apply to the Christian Faith. Outside the Church, just after the service, Mrs. Middleton, wife of Comrade J. R. Middleton, presented Rev. Mr. Flook with one of the small bands that were decorated the columns in the old church at York, which Comrade Middleton had salvaged and brought home with him.

The sincere sympathy of all Veterans in the District is extended to Comrade Burgess and Mrs. Burgess, in the loss of their daughter, Nellie, who passed on at the Hamilton Hospital on Saturday last.

K. N. GROUT PASSES AWAY

Prominent in Industrial and Municipal Life of Grimsby For Over 50 Years.

In the death of Kenneth Nelson Groat, in Hamilton General Hospital, on Saturday, July 11, another link with the Grimsby of the past was severed. A life-long resident of Grimsby, the deceased had been a well known and prominent citizen in the industrial and municipal life of the district for over half a century. Mr. Groat died in his 75th year, after an illness of four months.

Prominent Missionary At Grimsby Beach

Although Sunday was an exceptionally hot day, large and very attentive congregations greeted the Rev. Dr. Duncan MacLeod, a clergyman who had spent thirty years in the Island of Formosa as a Missionary.

Formosa is an island which formerly belonged to China, but at the conclusion of her war with Japan in 1895-96, the island was ceded to Japan and has been a Japanese possession ever since. There is a population of some 4,500,000, mostly Chinese or of Chinese extraction.

Good News From Sychar
Dr. MacLeod spoke in the morning upon the meeting of Jesus with the Samaritan women at the well of Sychar. At the conclusion of the conversation the woman had gone to her home village and made a report. Come, see a Man. The speaker characterized Jesus as the outstanding man of all history, entirely unapproachable in his aims and objects. First, he was outstanding beyond all others, first as a reformer. He had little regard for anything simply because it was heavy with age.

Second, he was outstanding as a builder-up. "Behold, I make all things new." He wanted the oppressed of all ages to be given a fair chance in the game of life.

Thirdly, he was a great internationalist. The world was his parish, and we are his preachers and missionaries, whether we know it or not, and whether we like it or not. "Go ye" is the great command—never rescinded, never cancelled; "into all the world," to Formosa and to the farthest and uttermost parts of this world. To do what? To preach the gospel, as the greatest factor in the civilizing and the saving of man.

Dr. MacLeod spoke of the almost insurmountable obstacles in the path of the missionaries of the Church in the East, of the scarcity of suitable men, and the task of raising sufficient money to carry on the work adequately. The speaker described at some length the people amongst whom he had labored for many years; he described them as highly intelligent people, industrious, healthy, eager to learn, and keenly responsive to the gospel appeal. Dr. MacLeod told his audience that he had hope that his entire family of four children would in time become missionaries, either medical or gospel. He himself is the son of the man, having been born in the Highlands of Scotland and having spent some years preaching in nothing but Gaelic.

If Dr. MacLeod can manage to return at any time to Grimsby Beach, he will be sure of a hearty welcome. He will travel over Canada until January next, when he goes to England for three months, returning to Formosa after that time by way of the Suez Canal, visiting different parts of India while en route.

Mrs. H. Reizner contributed a note and Mr. and Mrs. Reizner a note at the morning service which were much appreciated.

COURTESY ON THE HIGHWAYS

Truck Drivers' Manners Offer Example To All Says President — Elect of Automotive Transportation.

To say that a motorist has "the manners of a truck driver" is no longer an expression of contempt, but is actually a desirable compliment, because the manners of transport drivers—in Ontario at least—have reached a point where they offer a profitable example to the average motorist, according to George E. Parker, of St. Catharines, who on Thursday was elected president for the ensuing year at the annual meeting of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

He declared that the Ontario Minister of highways, Hon. T. R. McQuarrie, had put his finger on the crux of the whole problem of highway safety when he launched his current educational campaign to promote courtesy and consideration between drivers.

"The safety of life and property involves much more than the mere effort of the individual motorist to avoid mishaps to himself," Mr. Parker said.

"It must spring from a definite desire of motorists to make driving pleasant and easier for each other, and I heartily recommend to every driver Mr. McQuarrie's profound slogan 'Try Courtesy.'"

In presenting diplomas to 175 transport drivers who had fulfilled a pledge to have no accidents between March, 1935 and March, 1936, Mr. Parker observed that courtesy meant much more to transport drivers than mere ceremonial etiquette. It was a real (Continued on page 4)

$50,000 Fire Occurs At St. Catharines On Wednesday

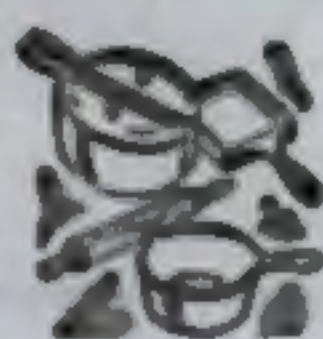

Fire late on Wednesday wiped out the axe-throw department of the Welland Valve Manufacturing Company, St. Catharines, at a loss estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000. Other departments surrounding the demolished building were damaged but not destroyed.

The fire broke out near a large forge machine, and was well under way before it was discovered by workmen. Before the department could lay down the flames were sweeping from one end to the other of the galvanneal iron and frame building.

The axe-throw department was in the centre of a rectangle formed by other buildings. Only strenuous efforts by the department, assisted by the Merrittion department, sea cadets and other volunteers, saved the other buildings.

Charles Letford, a volunteer assisting in fighting the fire, suffered a possible broken neck.

The entire plant is valued at $350,000. Loss was largely made up of forging machinery.

PROBLEMS OF EVERY DAY LIFE

By Dr. M. M. Lappin

A Stranger Within the Gates

"I came with my husband to this town a few years ago," writes a lady correspondent, "and I find it just impossible to make friends. I don't know whether I am at fault or my neighbours, but I have no desire to go out among the people for they do make me feel I am not wanted. It is all so strange to me for, in the place we came from I had many good and real friends."

Unfortunately, smaller communities have sometimes the characteristic of a parochial spirit, and newcomers are regarded with something of curiosity which makes it hard for them to get acquainted. The result is that, like my correspondent, they are obliged to endure loneliness for a time, and such loneliness is not good for them. It gives them too much time to think about themselves, and self gets an opportunity to loom large in the focus of consciousness, so that they become prone to dwell on little slights and injuries which, in themselves, may not really be anything, but when the imagination is allowed to play on them, they begin to seem like real hurts.

I think my correspondent should try to forget herself and cultivate the social side of life. Friendliness always begets friendliness, and one who shows the friendly spirit usually finds a friendly spirit returned. Perhaps she could get a good insight by looking for someone who is in trouble and then proffering her help. Real folks never forget a real kindness, and a kindness shown often leads to lasting friendship.

"I have no desire to get out among people at all," writes my correspondent, and that is one of the first things she ought to change. She can never know what the people are like until she does go out among them, and if only she would go out among them she would probably find there are many nice folks in the community—folks with whom she could make real friends.

Why not join some local society or club and get to know some of the people? If you keep yourself penned up and do not "mix" with the people, you can hardly blame them for thinking you do not want anything to do with them. They may even think that you imagine yourself to be better than you are, and, if they get that notion about you, they certainly will shun you. You must not give them that idea. Go out among them by all means. It is all a matter of readjusting yourself to your new environment—and no one can do that but you.

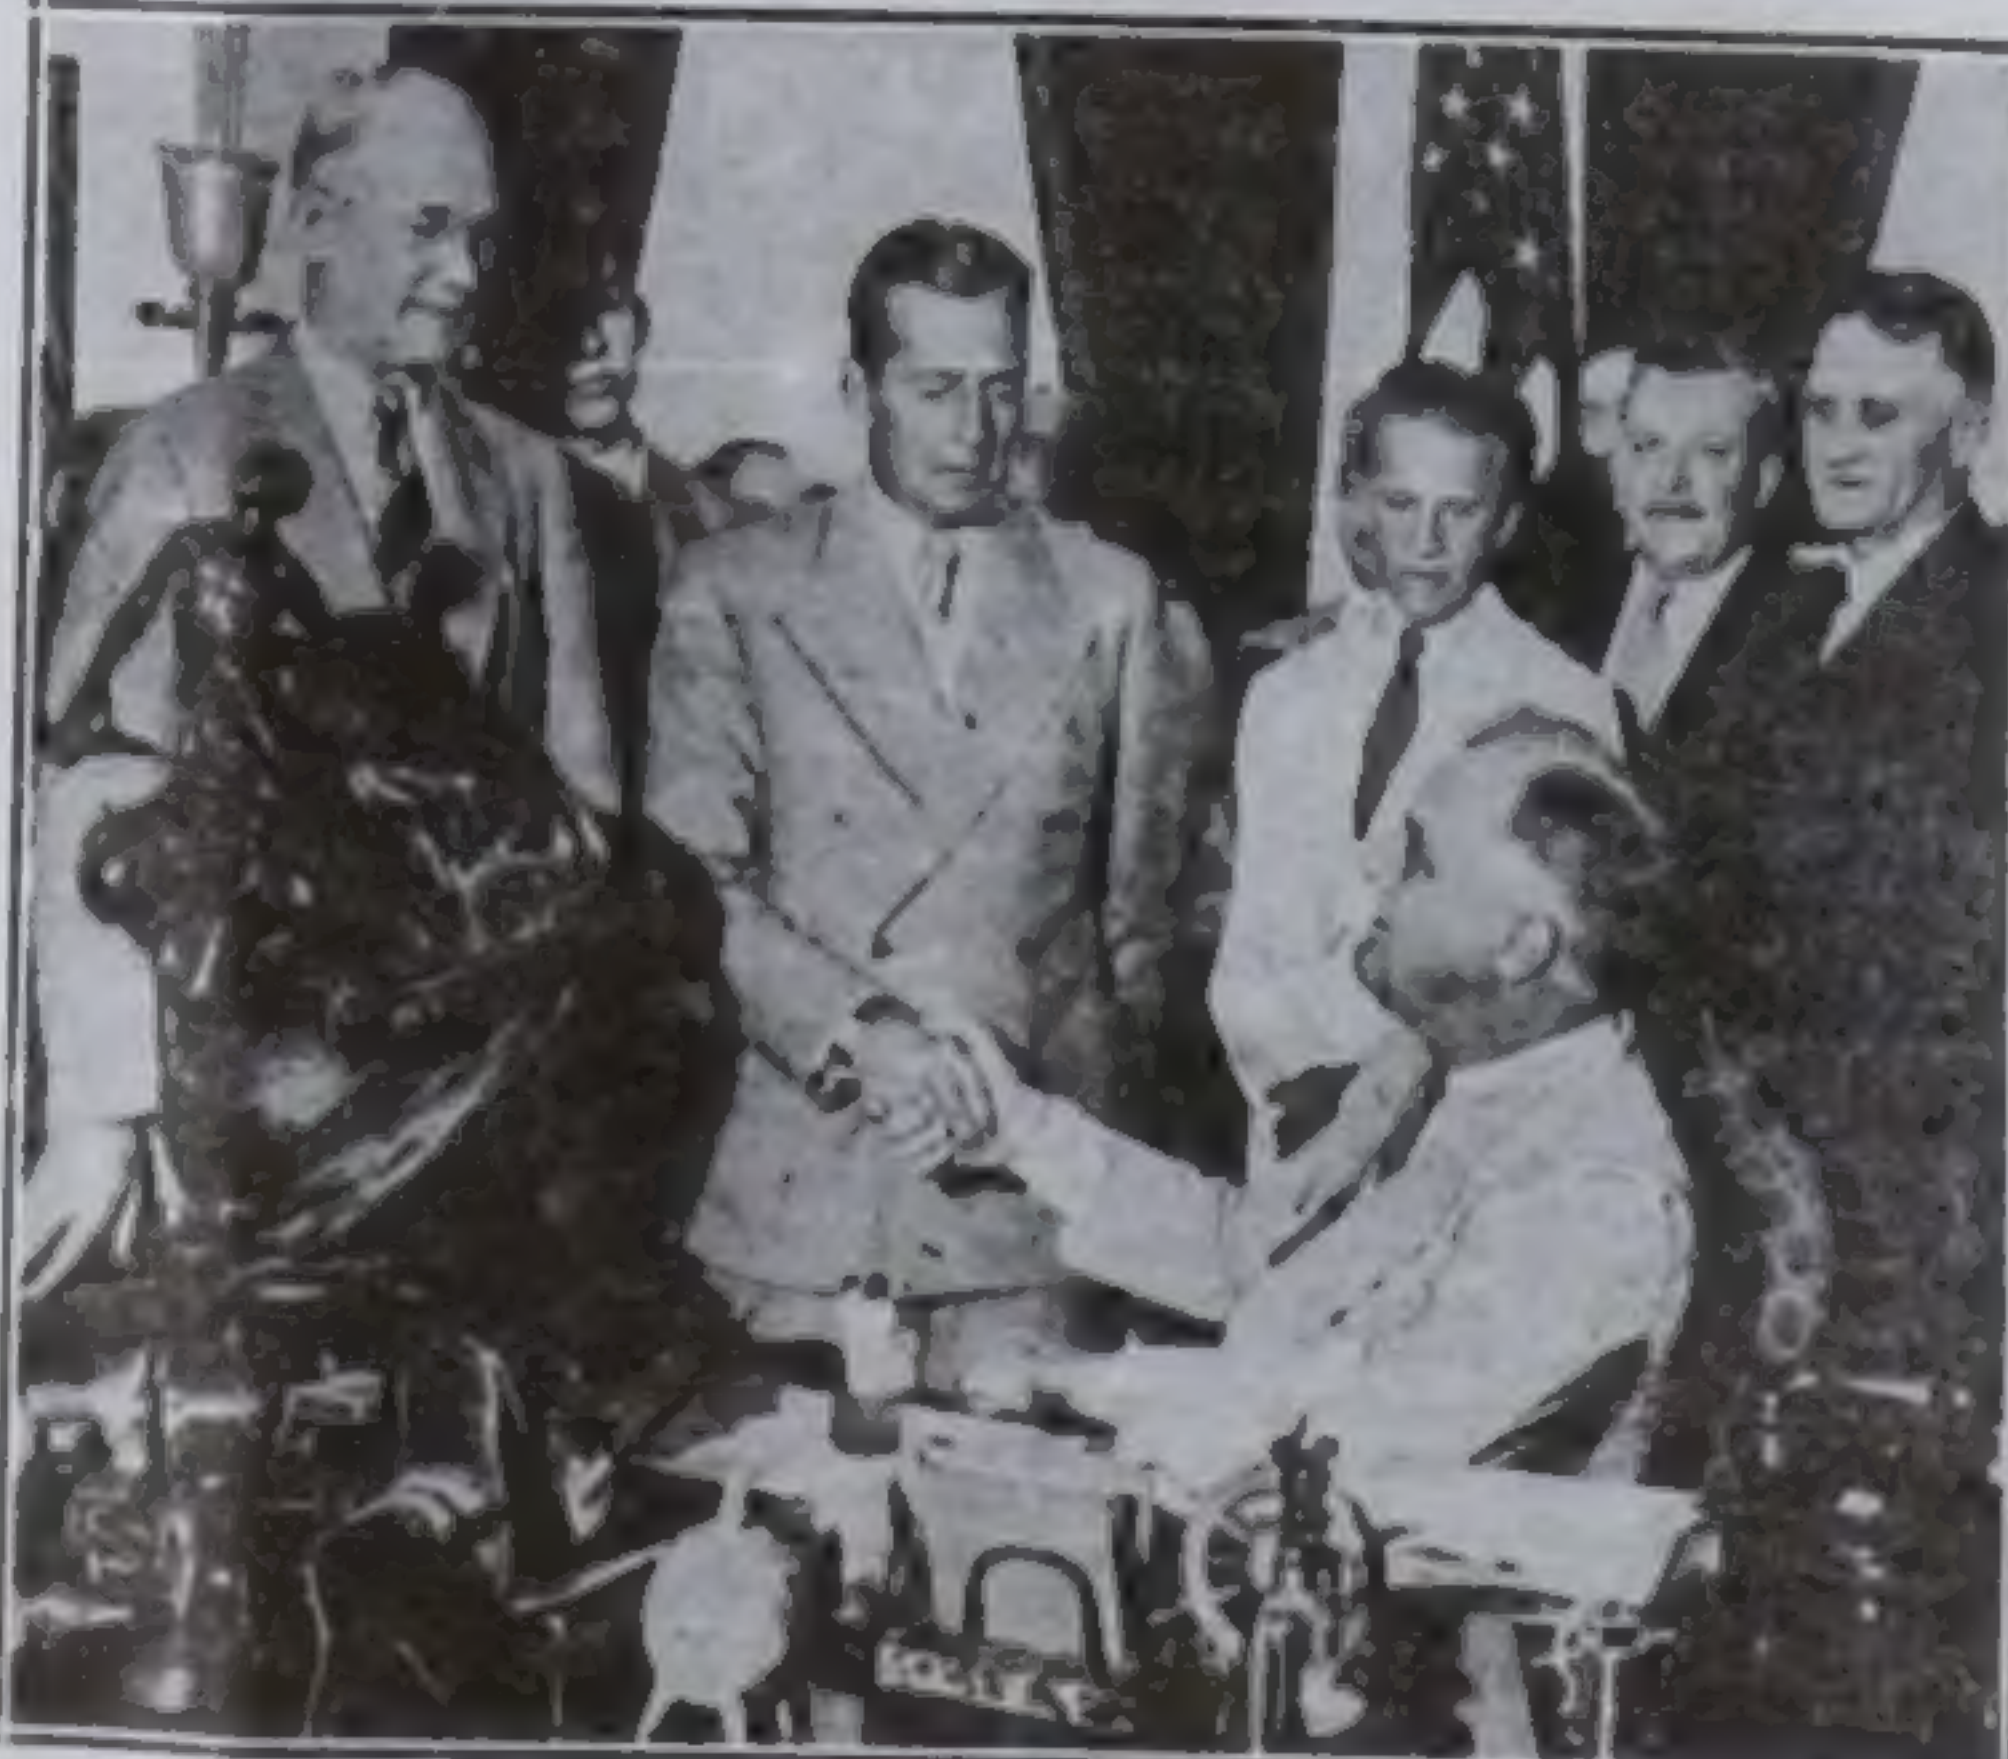

NOTE: The writer of this column is a trained psychologist and an author of several works. He is willing to deal with your problem and give you the benefit of his wide experience. Questions regarding PROBLEMS OF EVERY DAY LIFE should be addressed to: Dr. M. M. Lappin, Room 421, 73 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Ontario. Enclose a 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Best-Dressed Women In World

Westerners Have Much to Learn from the East, According to Singapore Fashion Expert.

"English women are rarely well dressed except when they occasionally wear evening gowns of classic simplicity. They have much to learn from the East about discarding trimmings, acquiring easy poise and grace of movement."

This criticism of modern Eve has been made by Miss Helen M. Davison, a Singapore fashion expert, who holds that the best dressed women are not the English or the French, but the Chinese.

"Only one race of women," she says, "are never untidy, never fussed or bothered by appearance, and always perfectly dressed, shod, immaculate as to face, hands and hair and have a perfect carriage and charming modest manners. They are the Chinese."

The Chinese women are the best dressed women in the world today, and the Shanghai dress is the latest style yet invented. Not all the dressmakers of London, Paris and New York have evolved a more useful or more flattering frock.

All Chinese women wear a uniform and all their dresses are cut in the same style for day or evening wear. They need no fashion books. They pay no exorbitant prices for exclusive models. Year after year they wear gowns of one pattern—the Shanghai type. But what a marvellous design, and what beauty and grace they achieve!

The Shanghai dress worn by Chinese girls and women everywhere, has a high closed collar, with short and tight sleeves. The dress is long, reaching below the ankles, and is cut to fit the figure with no waist band. Although the style never varies, variety is secured by bright colours, and an under-slip of contrasting shade which peeps through the split sides.

Miss Davison, who is an Englishwoman, declares that British and French women, "cut their clothes in odd pieces, vary the natural waist, and disguise the beauty of their bodies with bulky material."

"They hang about themselves," she adds "rolls, scarves, frills, contraptions of straw or cloth upon their heads, covering or hiding their lovely hair." The Chinese girl never does wear "these dreadful black, silk, polished hair. She never wears a hat—never."

Shows Laughter Helps Digestion

Meter Placed Inside Body Gives Science Some New Data

CHICAGO.—The first "speedometer" ever to be hitched to the human digestive system gave science new data last week on the rate of the flow of a digestive fluid in man. It showed that laughter "steps on the gas" and apparently speeds up digestion.

The meter was placed inside the body, attached to the tube which carries bile from the liver to help break down fatty foods. In effect it measured the flow of bile.

Two sets of experiments, working independently, announced one of the "speedometer" simultaneously to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The other experimenters—Dr. J. M. McGowan, Dr. Winfield L. Rutch, and Dr. Waltham Walters, of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.—said they found through similar experiments that the accepted anesthetic in the gall bladder operations, increased rather than decreased pain.

Manhood

With child-faith dead, and youth-dreams gone like mist,
We stand, at noon, beneath the blazing sun
Upon life's dusty road, our course half done.
No more we stray through woods where birds hold tryst,
Nor over mountains which the dawn hath kissed;
In glare and bent the rare mist now be run
On this blank plain, while round us, one by one,
Our friends drop out and urge us to desert.
Then from the broken sky rings out a voice,
"Faint not, strong souls, quit you like men, rejoice,
That now like men ye hear the stream and strain,
With eyes unband seeing life's naked truth.
Gird up your loins, gird on with might and main,
And taste a richer wine than that of youth."

A Canadian Writes To London Editors

(A letter in the London Spectator)

Sir:—Could anyone suggest to London editors that it would be a good idea for them to buy an atlas to which their staff writers could refer when mentioning places in Canada? Particularly, this applies to the Times and Observer, two papers that have been taught to believe were infallible. Punch makes fearful howlers in its verse when referring to places outside England.

Recently the Times had a photograph of the King, when Prince of Wales, on horseback "on his ranch near Manitoba." Now the King's ranch, as everyone knows, is in Alberta; the next province eastward is Saskatchewan, and after that, six or seven hundred miles away, comes Manitoba. Believe it or not, there are quite a number of places between the "R.P. Ranch" and Manitoba!

The Weekly Times had an editorial on Canadian Provincial Debts in which came the quite unparaphrased words: "the very unattractive budget before the Vancouver Legislature." Don't they know, in London, that the capital of British Columbia is Victoria, on Vancouver Island? It is possible that geography even that of the empire, has been left out of the curriculum in English schools? I feel sure that the Times office has its radios, and telephones, and everything up to date—except a map. I do wish they would buy one. It would save a lot of bad feeling on this side.

In the Court and Personal columns of the Observer I see a notice worded as follows: "Mr Percy Vincent will visit Canada in August where he will be a guest of the State of Vancouver." Now where and what is the State of Vancouver? We in British Columbia know all too well what the state (with a small s) of Vancouver is just now but—the State? That has an American answer, we don't grow States in Canada. Perhaps the editor meant Province? And why of Vancouver? Please tell him this is a town.

And now to cap all comes a really ignorant blunder of imperial diplomacy. In the Times Weekly of April 5th is a photograph of Vancouver, captioned below, "Vancouver, the capital of British Columbia." But heretofore full me. Perhaps you may be able to do something about it?—Yours truly,
H. Glynn-Ward, Toronto, Sidney, British Columbia.

West's Nightingale Dies in England

Mrs. M. Colyer-Fergusson Was the Former Edith J. Miller of Portage La Prairie

GRAYBURNED, England. — Mrs. Max Colyer-Fergusson, who before her marriage was known as a contralto singer, died here recently.

Mrs. Fergusson who was born at Portage La Prairie, Man., was the former Edith J. Miller, daughter of the late W. W. Miller, post-master at Portage La Prairie, Man., for many years. Her beautiful contralto voice carried her to international renown as "the Manitoba nightingale."

Miss Miller's musical career began officially when she was a student in Toronto. She won the gold medal at the Toronto Conservatory of Music after studying under an Italian music master, Signor d'Amico.

She studied for three years in Winnipeg, then moved to Europe where she continued her music in London and Paris. In the latter city she was a pupil of the famous Madame Marchesi.

She returned to this continent and was contralto soloist in St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, and Temple Avenue Church, Brooklyn, for a time.

On her second visit to England she gave her first concert under the patronage of King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra. She was presented to King Edward in 1907 after singing at the Royal Amateur Orchestra concert in Queen's Hall.

She prepared for grand opera under the tutelage of the world-famed tenor, the late M. Jean de Reszke and made her operatic debut at Covent Garden, London in 1915, in the role of Maddalena in Verdi's "Rigoletto."

Other artists with whom she sang included Madame Melba and John McCormack. She was given an enthusiastic reception.

She was married in July 1913, to Max Colyer-Fergusson, grandson of the late Sir James Rankin Fergusson, Bart., and she and her husband spent their honeymoon in Canada, visiting the bride's parents at Portage La Prairie.

Her last Canadian concert tour was made in 1918, just prior to the death of King Edward VII.

New Future Wonders Seen In Chemistry of the Farm

DETROIT — There will be no section of America unaffected by the projects of the Farm Chemurgic Council. It was indicated at the second industry and science, here. The council is rapidly working toward its ideal of allying the farmer and industrialist, of finding new uses for the products of the land.

Probably before the future objectives of the industrialists, farm leaders and research chemists who compose the council are interpreted as to their effect on the varied agricultural sections of the country, a revolution of past accomplishments in the year since the group first met would indicate how farmers in every section are to benefit. Also how new industries may be founded and the nation's unemployed put back to work.

On display here were the modern miracles of the man who made highways from cotton, cosmetics from cat hair, dyes from pine trees, motor fuel from weeds and varnishes from beans and nuts. Men who had put up plants in which the South's inutile slash pine has become a worth-while crop by its conversion into turpentine. Men who have put up an alcohol plant in which the fuel for automobiles is made from farmers' crops ranging from sweet potatoes, Jerusalem artichokes, sugar beets, corn; crops from all sections of the country.

The Ford Motor Company's display is of the many parts of the modern automobile which can be made from material once used solely for food. Stripped throughout the exhibits and in the speeches of the delegates were the means by which the farm surplus and agricultural wastes were being converted into cellulose, oil, and fishmeal. The summary of past accomplishments is more than indicative of how no section of America will be neglected in the projects under way.

A large number of the discussions at the conference centered on "alcohol," indicative that it may be the first of the new vast industries to spring up in all sections of the country to give the farmer increased markets not only for his crops but his by-products.

Alcohol is being used for cars and Francis P. Garvin, president of the council, made the prediction that if only a 10 per cent. blend of alcohol and gasoline were made for the present consumption it would take five years to build the plants required to supply the new fuel source. To produce a one-third blend of alcohol and gasoline it would cost to work $5,000,000 of the unemployed and require the produce of 50,000,000 acres.

So sure were the scientists and industrialists of the new age, which is approaching for the farmer that a warning was given them to prepare for the days when their crops will feed not only humans, but machines.

"Farmers will have to know infinitely more," L. F. Livingston, president of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, declared, "to produce successfully the crops and to utilize the methods now taking form in the laboratory. They will have to develop a practical knowledge of soil chemistry, of plant pathology, of agricultural engineering and have at least a basic knowledge of biology."

"Modern agriculture offers opportunity to youth and it spells it in bold letters. Indeed, it needs youth to carry ahead the greater program of service that even now is taking tangible form. But youth should understand what smart farmers long ago learned, that it takes more than a pair of overalls and a hoe to make a successful farmer."

"It's An Ill Wind . . ."

Writes The Sydney Herald. — A broken piston rod is bringing the motorship, Jeff Davis, back to Sydney for repairs.

The mishap came as a bitter disappointment to a passenger, who is hurrying with her baby son to America to the only clinic in the world where an operation can be performed which may save his life.

On the other hand, the mishap was welcomed by a newly-married couple on the Jeff Davis, who will now be able to see his wife in Sydney again.

The child to save whose life his mother is making a dramatic dash half way round the world, is Kelvin Rogers, 3, of Beert, Victoria, who swallowed a three-inch packing nail, which lodged in his lung, about 20 months ago. Australian specialists were unable to remove it, and the American Pioneer line granted the child and his mother a free passage to New York to enable an operation to be performed in the only clinic in the world which possesses the equipment for such a delicate operation and surgeons trained in its use.

On the same ship is an American gallery-boy into whose brief stay in Australia was crammed a whirlwind marriage, a brief honeymoon, arrest, and deportation. Upon the return of the ship to Sydney he will probably be taken in charge by the police until the vessel is ready to get to sea again, but his wife will be able to see him on visiting days.

Stir in Turner Valley

Writes the Calgary Albertan. — It was like old times in Calgary when the Turner Valley Royalties will come in on a recent afternoon. It was better than old times; for never in a history of the Valley oil operations had there been so sensational a development. The largest crude oil well in the British Empire is something not to be taken lightly. So as the news spread, sightseers turned their cars Valleyward and into the nostrils of the little village, quietly resting these last few years, was breathed the breath of a new life.

The Valley has re-awakened, an important day in the history of our Alberta. The event which re-awoke it is the fulfillment of hopes of men who broke the oil with something of the spirit that opened up the West, built the Canadian Pacific and did other acts that made our land what it is.

For the new well, and the new activity to which its coming must give birth are monuments to conviction in the presence of unbelieved, persistence despite the criticism of well-meaning, but doubting advisors.

Birds vs. Cats

Writes the St. Catherine's Standard. — Arthur Brisbane affirms that a pair of catbirds live, if allowed to breed for two years without destruction, would produce a progeny bigger than this earth. And the same might be said of other insect families. Do people who nourish cats around the home to kill the birds ever think in that direction?

Propose Vessels To Serve Canada

Building of Two Fast Passenger Ships Discussed in London

LONDON. — Building of two new passenger vessels capable of competing with the fast, well-equipped ships of the Matson Line, to maintain a monthly service between the west coast of Canada and Australia and New Zealand was the substance of a scheme discussed in the House of Lords today.

Lord Halifax said the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand was prepared to submit such a scheme in an effort to rationalize the trans-Pacific service. The plan would involve the abandonment of the Union Steamship Company's service as a means of placing the Canadian Australian Line on a sound financial footing.

Lord Lloyd urged the granting of subsidies to the two steamship companies which, he said, are suffering loss of traffic to American subsidized shipping.

"Tootle Him"

The following is a Japanese rule for motorists, translated into English by a native official:

"At the rise of the hand of a policeman, stop rapidly. Do not pass him or otherwise disrespect him. When a passenger of the foot horse in sight tootle the horn trumpet to him, melodiously at first. If he still obstructs your passage, tootle him with vigor, and express by word of mouth the warning, 'Hi, hi!' Do not explode the exhaust box at the waddering horse; go soothingly by. Give him space to the sportive dog that makes sport in the roadway. Avoid entanglement of the dog with your wheel-spokes. Go soothingly on the grass-mat, as there lurks the child demon; press the brake of the foot as you roll round the corners and save the collapse and tie-up."—Our Empire.

It's Still Money

Writes the St. Catherine's Standard. — A popular note is struck by the editor of The Ottawa Journal, who confesses he will be glad to get his hands on any of the new bilingual money to be issued by the Bank of Canada. They are calling it mongrel coin in some places, but that certainly won't hurt its general acceptance. It is quite a bit different, however, in the case of Alberta scrip.

Second Shock Restores Life In Electrocuted Animals

NEW YORK—Experiments with the electrocution of sheep and their subsequent revival by counter-shock, begun nine years ago by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., and the Physiology Department of Columbia University, will be completed shortly, according to Dr. H. B. Williams, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Many of the electrocuted sheep are still alive and well, he said.

The scientific results of the experiments are being prepared for presentation to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The original goal, he explained, had been to determine the effect on human beings of low-voltage shocks. But the sheep, chosen because their hearts conform in size and weight to those of men, recorded on the elaborate electro-cardiograph set up for the experiments two facts hitherto unknown: That only during one-fifth of the cycle of a heartbeat will short shocks of low voltage produce death; and that in a majority of these cases a subsequent shock of high intensity and short duration, if it is applied less than two minutes after the heart has stopped beating, will restore the electrocuted animal to life with no permanent damage.

SALTFLY CONTROL WEEDS
BY SPRAYING

Striking testimony to the results secured from spraying the road sides with a mixture of sodium chlorate and calcium chloride as a means of controlling obnoxious weeds was given to Saltfleet councillors in session on Tuesday by Road Superintendent David Dewar, when he stated that he believed that 90 per cent. of the chicory and sow thistle on the parts of the road sides sprayed had been killed. The spraying done last year was in the nature of an experiment, several had weed infested parts of road being sprayed. The results obtained have even exceeded the expectations of the sponsor of the scheme, Councillor Burton Corman. A resolution was passed by the council authorizing the road superintendent to spray the sides of the road where he deemed it necessary to do so.

A sign on No. 8 Highway near Fruitland which reads "pure ice water free" attracted many thirsty travellers the past week, practically all of whom offered to pay for the water or purchased some fruit from the enterprising fruit grower.

Township Weed Inspector S. J. Smith states that the weeds this year were ten days earlier than usual, the worst weeds to contend with being the sow thistle, blue flower and ox-eye daisy. The weed infestation is about the same as last year and farmers are again co-operating with a view to their eradication.

Grimsbys contingent of veterans on the Vimy Pilgrimage left town on Wednesday night via C.N.R. and sailed from Montreal on Thursday on the steamship Acadia. The trio was composed of W. H. Cole, Grimsby Beach, Capt. Charles Burdett and Lieut. Charles Palmer, D.C.M.

When the driver is believed to have momentarily gone to sleep on Saturday night a car in charge of Robert L. Lee, 25 Robinson Street, North, Grimsby, swerved from the highway, broke off a bell telephone pole and then hit a cherry tree, 1/2 mile west of town. By a peculiar coincidence the pole was next to one broken a week ago and the cherry tree next to one hit a week ago in a motor accident at about the same spot.

William Wilson, who has been in the Long Lac mining area for some weeks past, has had a trying experience the past week in helping to battle forest fires in and around the Hard Rock mine and the village of Geraldton. "Wenny" was one of the mine crew that was trapped in the bunk house at Hard Rock and only escaped with their lives by a narrow margin. He writes that for 72 hours he handled a water nozzle without sleep or rest of any kind and being drenched constantly with water to keep from being burned by the heat. At one time Geraldton was completely surrounded by raging fire.

WILDCAT SHOT

A wildcat, shot a mile from St. Catharines recently weighed 43 lbs. It was the first wild cat shot in that section of the province in many years. The animal is thought to be the one which had been killing sheep and fowl in the St. Catharines vicinity. A few weeks ago it was seen by John G. Gibson and family of Berryman Drive, Snyder, N.Y. Mr. Gibson and his wife and children were plucking by the roadside when the big cat approached threateningly. It scurried away into the woods, however under a volley of stones and the shrieking of the sons.

practical thing which expressed itself in a helping hand extended to the stranded driver wherever he might be met. It had earned for transport drivers the reputation as the modern prototype of the original Good Samaritan.

Only motorists who had been stranded on some lonely stretch of highway, and had been passed by dozens of unmerciful "yellow" motorists, finally to be rescued by an overfilled truck driver, realized the spirit of helpfulness that transport drivers generally manifested on the road. Under the coats of all trucks there were flares, tow chains, fire extinguishers, and tools which were always at the disposal of one who might be in need. The 175 drivers with the clean record were among 200 who had voluntarily enrolled for a year's test and who had travelled 6,324,000 miles (averaging more than 30,000 miles per driver) without a serious mishap, Mr. Parker announced. There had been no fatal accidents whatever; only two in which people had been injured and even then not seriously; and but 60 "property damage" mishaps, almost all of which had amounted to less than $10.00.

Canada's Railway Centenary

THIS year is Canada's railway Centenary. On July 21st, 1836, Canada's first steam train was operated between Laprairie and St. Johns, Quebec, over the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railway, the first link in the chain of railways which now constitute the Canadian National System. The opening was made the occasion for a gala celebration at which tribute was paid by the leading citizens of Lower Canada to the founders of the Company. Then far-seeing men, whose immediate object was the creation of a transportation link between Montreal and New York, were pioneers of Canada's development.

But perhaps even they could not visualize the vast country that would be built up as a result of the introduction of the steam railway. The sixteen miles of line over which the "Duchess", Canada's first locomotive, hauled the coaches carrying the distinguished guests of the Company, has developed into the great Canadian National System, with 24,000 miles of line serving Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The drawing, depicting the start of the first train, is from a painting by Adam Sheriff Scott, A.R.C.A., and is reproduced by courtesy of the Royal Bank of Canada.

CONSERVE WATER SUPPLY

Lawn and flower watering was prohibited at Stoney Creek on Friday when it was found that the level in the 350,000-gallon tank on the mountain side had dropped to ten feet owing to the excessive use of water. On Saturday evening the ban was lifted for one hour, and again on Sunday, but will be kept on, except for this period each day, until the heat wave subsides as a precautionary measure against fire. Commercial users on meters were allowed to continue to use it for irrigation purposes.

OXFORD GROUP MOVEMENT

Article II

Open meetings of the Oxford Group were held in front of the Town Hall every afternoon during the World Assembly held at Stockbridge, Mass., in June.

Victor Kitchen, New York advertising man and author, was in charge of the Lee group. Among those assisting in the arrangements for the home parties there was Miss Carpenter, dean of women at McMaster University, Hamilton.

Meeting At Lee

In reality there were two separate house parties at Lee. The biggest one was centered at the Greenock Inn, but 120 men had a house party all their own in tent city at the American Legion Park where 21 tents had been erected. Ministers, bartenders, newspapermen, taxi drivers, policemen, aeroplane stunt pilots, student engineers, unemployed men, janitors, sculptors, garage mechanics and others were in attendance.

Said a Denmark citizen, "It is amazing to hear a famous and busy lawyer from New York travelling 3,000 miles to come to Copenhagen to speak about God."

"In October," he continued, "10 business men came together and talked about how to bring this life into the Danish business world. Out of this grew three months later a week-end party for 300 business men, which has affected the whole of business life in Denmark."

C. R. P. Winner of Oxford, England, made an address two sentences in length. He said, "I am a horse trainer and was a gambler in life and money. I have found only one certainty, that God can guide me if I am ready to listen."

Marcel De Watteville Berckheim of Paris, France, spoke saying, "Fear and resentment are not the consequences of war but are the causes."

Herman Hietzen, banker in Rotterdam, Holland, said that prominent business men have seen the necessity of a new attitude toward life. "They have seen that the problems of today can be solved only when individuals are changed."

Dr. J. E. W. Duns of the Dutch Parliament was the concluding speaker. "What I used to do," he said, "was to say to my opponents 'You devil, then look out for my own interests. Now we shake hands. Self-interest and partisanship is gone.'"

What "God control" has done for Canada in three years since the movement reached there was told. Eric Bentley of Toronto, presided. Libbie Miller of Vancouver told of an Oxford Group "house party" held in the British Columbia penitentiary, sixty of the inmates were "changed", over the control of their lives in every detail of God, etc.

In celebration of the fifty-eighth birthday of Dr. Frank N.D. Buchanan, the expenses of a transatlantic broadcast were paid by members of the Oxford Group in London as a birthday present.

"Bartender and banker, pick pocket and peer, employed and unemployed," said Dr. Buchanan in his prepared radio address, "are all to be found gathered here in the eight house parties of the Oxford Group National Assembly that are quartered in Stockbridge and the neighbouring towns and villages. One of these takes the form of a tent city. Four hundred Canadians have crossed the undefended boundary on the north and are leading this meeting here today at which I am speaking."

"Through surrender to God," he continued, "men find true freedom in a world haunted by insecurity and fear. They discover creative purpose in an age of bewilderment. They find new moral power amid moral decay. They learn to work together in a world of conflicting interests through common obedience to God."

"When God has control, a nation finds her true destiny. Men make people and nations are remade. The responsibility is personal to you and to me. The challenge of the Oxford Group is a challenge to decision—to listen and to act. When men listen, God speaks."

From The Note Book—By J. M. "God moves in mysterious ways his wonders to perform. I thought of that yesterday as I sat, one of the thousands, to enjoy the afternoon program of the Oxford group, to study at close range its purpose, to understand better the way, the truth and the light."

"Absolute honesty. Absolute purity. Absolute unselfishness. Absolute love... conviction, contrition, confession, soul."

conversion, continuance . . . These are the simple promises by which the chain of life is revealed back to simple threads. They are the living witnesses of God in man. They involve no complicated formula. They merely bring into being the hopes, the longings, the aspiration and the inspirations of the race. The whole aim is simplicity, a few thoughts to be written down, treasured, remembered. Quiet times. Guidance.

"Religion is in danger of becoming lost in formalism. Here is a hand that would keep it free and sweet and wholesome—that would teach men as the Master taught on the shores of Galilee two thousand years ago. Here is a mankind-loving brotherhood that would have us all belong to the great church 'which holds the world within its starlit skies, that claims the great and good of every race and clime, that finds with joy the grain of gold in every creed, and finds with light and love the germs of good in every soul."

Christmas Will be Mondays In Proposed Calendar Plan

We have a very awkward calendar observes The Halifax Chronicle. The earth takes 365 1/4 days to go round the sun, hence the year cannot be exactly divided. The history of the calendar is interesting. Roman emperors taking liberties with it to enhance their own reputation rather than benefit the people who were governed by it. For many years efforts have been made at reform but without avail. Now a movement is on foot, which has very wide adherents in many countries, which urges through the League of Nations to bring about a reform of the calendar which would benefit all people.

The suggestion which has received most favor is to preserve 12 months as at present, but to make the number of days in each quarter equal. Thus January would begin on Sunday, January 30 and March 30. And so with the three months of each quarter, the first month to have 31 days, the second 30 and the third 29. This would make 364 days for the year. To get the extra day, between December 30 and January 1 an extra day would be added, which would be observed as an international holiday.

By this means the calendar would always be the same. The year would always begin on a Sunday, Christmas would always fall on Monday, holidays would fall on the same date each year, and each month would have exactly the same number of working days, namely 28. The extra day on Leap Year would be taken care of by inserting the extra day between June 30 and July 1 and observing it as an international holiday. The business days of any one year would thus be exactly the same for any other year and accounting would be so much an easier business.

The first year on which January 1 falls on a Sunday is the year 1920. It would not occur again until 1960. Hence the desire to reach unanimity of opinion and secure action by January, 1927, when the change could be brought about without disturbance.

British Warplane Fastest Yet Made

LONDON — Sir Philip Sassoon's press claim that the equipment of Britain's expanded air force will be "second to none" in the world is justified by the extraordinary quality of the new warplanes that are now emerging from behind the curtain of official secrecy. Among the aircraft listed for assembly in the New Type Aircraft Park at Hendon on the occasion of the Royal Air Force display are fighters and bombers of astounding abilities — fighters faster than airplanes in the world except a very few racers and bombers capable of carrying immense loads at great speed over many hundreds of miles.

Five days ago a demonstration of six types of airplanes designed and built by the Vickers and Supermarine companies amply confirmed the impression of high technical quality made by earlier revelations about machines that will form the future armament of service squadrons. Three of the aircraft — a single-seater fighter and two bombers — are especially notable for flying performance and the use of novel methods of construction. The fighter is the Supermarine Spitfire I, a low-wing monoplane powered with a Rolls-Royce Merlin 12-cylinder liquid-cooled engine. It is the fastest warplane in the world, capable of a speed considerably higher than 300 m.p.h.; it does not carry as heavy load as the Hawker monoplane fighter which exceeds 300 miles an hour. Both the Spitfire and the Hawker monoplane have been ordered in quantity for the equipment of fighter squadrons of the Royal Air Force.

Designed by Mr. R. J. Mitchell, who designed the racing seaplanes that secured Great Britain in permanent possession of the Schneider Trophy by a series of smashing victories over the best foreign machines, the new fighter is a beautifully streamlined craft with a highly polished stressed metal skin. A retractable undercarriage diminishes head resistance in flight. Wing flaps enable the machine to glide in steeply and land comparatively slowly.

Equally notable is the new Vickers twin-engine bomber, constructed on the "geodetic" system invented by Mr. B. N. Wallis and developed by him in conjunction with the Vickers Company during the past four years. This is a mid-wing monoplane, deriving power from two Bristol Pegasus air-cooled radial engines. In flight the undercarriage units retract into recesses at the rear of the engine nacelles.

Livestock Plans

In United Kingdom, Agriculture Chief Outlines Proposals

LONDON, Eng. — Walter Elliott, minister of agriculture, in a recent statement outlined the government's permanent proposals for safeguarding the livestock industry in the United Kingdom.

He said the government intended to proceed on the basis of a regulated market, with the maximum supplies for consumers consistent with a reasonable level of remuneration for producers.

The government desires that the responsibility for securing stable market conditions should be assumed by the producers of various countries. To this end, it proposes an empire meat council, representative of the United Kingdom, and other empire countries, and an international meat conference, representative of the United Kingdom, empire and foreign countries.

It is proposed that the aggregate exports and imports of frozen and chilled beef and meat equivalent to fat cattle during the next three years should not exceed recent levels. The government proposes also that United Kingdom producers of fat cattle should have a subsidy not exceeding £5,000,000 (about $25,000,000) annually.

Parliament will be invited immediately after the summer recess to pass legislation providing for customs duties on imported chilled, frozen and other descriptions of beef and veal from foreign countries.

It is not proposed, however, that there should be duties on imports from empire countries on such meats as mutton and lamb from any country. The government proposes to continue the existing system of regulation of imports of mutton and lamb until 1937.

Thereafter it would have to be decided whether an international meat conference in association with the empire meat council should operate with regard to exports of mutton and lamb.

The government also intends to ask parliament to give it general power to regulate imports of livestock and meat, should need arise.

Air-Mail Service May Start in 1937

Preparations for Trans-Canada Line Going on— Funds Ready

OTTAWA — A million dollars will be spent this year in preparation for the trans-Canada air mail, which is expected to start in 1937. Preparatory work is being carried on looking to the future. This consists in the construction or completion of landing fields, radio bases, lighting devices and other facilities for the service.

The project has always contemplated much flying by night rather than in the day owing to the connection with mail trains and the time of their arrival at the points of exchange.

Establishment of the service next year — and passengers as well as mails would likely figure in such development — is dependent on financial conditions. What they will be a year hence cannot be foreseen now, and until this is possible the expenditures will be in preparation. By another year, on the scale of operations now being started, everything will be ready for the trans-Canada service if the money is available for the essential subsidies.

The growing popularity of an air service for passengers and of air mails where they are available both suggest a larger public patronage than was accorded such services when, originally, it was inaugurated. It was stated in the House of Commons last session that the great reason for the abandonment was the small degree of public patronage at the time.

The proposed trans-Atlantic service has not yet reached the practical stage. Test flights across the ocean which were projected at conferences here and in Washington last fall of British, Irish, Canadian and United States postal and air service officials are not coming off this summer. Other tests, however, will be conducted into meteorological and other conditions, but the flying boats will not attempt an early crossing.

The trans-Canada service would hook up with the trans-Atlantic, though development of the former is in no sense contingent upon the latter.

Away from crowded New York tenements for a day, happy youngsters and their parents cheer heartily as hospital ship, St. John's Guild, starts first trip of season.

Even A Turtle Is Welcome Around a Newspaper Office

"Life is seldom dull around this office," remarks the genial editor of the Peterborough Examiner. To illustrate his point he relates that in season trappers call at the editorial sanctum to show wolf pelts. Last week the game warden brought in a four-days-old town and this week members of the staff have been laughing in snapping turtles and sea turtles. Even as he wrote a fair-skinned snapper was sitting under an upturned waste paper basket where the reporters do their work. Another and much smaller sea turtle has been the run of the office because it does not snap. The reporter who brought the snapping turtle in has mastered the art of catching it by the tail, that being the one way in which the snapper can be handled with safety.

The whole picture is a very delightful one, contrasting pleasantly with the popular notion that a newspaper office is a sort of a madhouse where editors, reporters and office boys scramble wildly about amid a bedlam of ringing telephones, shouted orders and clicking typewriters. There may be newspapers like that. In fact one sees them every now and again in the movie, but most editorial rooms, while possibly a little untidy at times, are places into which ordinary citizens may venture with perfect safety, except for the remote possibility of being bitten by the staff's pet snapping turtle (and he it is understood that this is not a reference to the city editor).

Turtles, it seems to us, should make ideal newspaper office pets because they have so many valuable lessons to impart to youthful reporters. A turtle knows how to plod steadily about his business and is also aware that it is dangerous to stick his neck out unnecessarily. He also knows how to make it snappy when the need arises and, as all good newspapermen should be, he is a consistent snapper up of unconsidered trifles.

But his chief value as an object lesson to members of the fourth estate is his general structure. Even a snapping turtle is soft and tender at heart but has a hard outer shell into which he frequently finds it prudent to retire. Most newspapermen are built on a somewhat similar plan. They may have a crusty exterior developed through years of contact with the stern realities of an exacting profession, but this is merely a protective mechanism exactly like the turtle's shell.

Highway Lighting Safeguards Life

MURRAY BAY, Que. — Importance of highway lighting as a safeguard to the life of pedestrians and motorists was stressed recently by L. S. Wood, Cleveland lighting engineer, in an address before the annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association. Canadian safety campaigns, he said, paid too little attention to highway lighting. "Safety campaigns have improved roads and automobile designs, and have cut down daytime accidents, but highway accidents at night remain at a high level," Mr. Wood said.

Sir A. D. Hall, in an address to the Royal Society of Arts on "Can Agriculture Provide Substantial Relief for Unemployment," said that the continued decrease in small holdings in face of deliberate efforts to increase them was sufficient evidence that they no longer represented a form of occupation that would attract and retain men.

Vacation Hard For Shy Girl

Miss Suffering from Inferiority Complex Given Advice

Vacation time is here again with many shy girls dreading the coming season because they feel so alone even in a crowded resort where they have gone to meet new people, particularly new men, says the New York Sun.

In most instances they begin their vacations with a bad mental outlook. "It won't do me any good to go away and to meet new people," an attractive girl said, as she dejectedly packed her bag. "I just can't get into the value of things."

The shy girl is not alone in a feeling of social inferiority. Many persons with outgoing personalities are tremendously insecure underneath, psychiatrists tell us. If the shy girl could realize that some of her more outgoing companions were just as self-conscious as she, it might help her to overcome her difficulties.

One major difficulty is in making her first plunge into the icy pool of a new social environment. If possible, she should select a place where the ice will be broken a bit for her by an experienced hostess or recreational leader.

Once she has been introduced it is up to the girl to do her part by appearing interested in the people she is meeting whether they have been or not. The use of a little acting ability has gotten many a girl over the first awkward stages.

The shy girl often makes good progress with new men whom she meets but gives up the game when a rival with more assurance appears. She completely relinquishes her men to the new girl.

"The other girl can have him if he is that easy to get," she shrugs.

This attitude is often misunderstood by the man who thinks he may have offended the shy girl in some fashion which he cannot understand, or that he has hurt her. This mistaken pride on her part often causes her to lose good dates for the coming winter months.

The shy girl is often too timid to join in the group activities. She should realize that most of the other guests are amateurs too and that her efforts will not be disparaged. She should take part in group activities as much as possible, even if she lacks skill for her associations with her fellow guests promoted good fellowship.

The shy girl need not be a brilliant conversationalist in order to get along socially. Most men and women talk too much so that her non-talking may be an asset to her if she listens well and smiles frequently. She can be gracious, too, about favors done for her by the male guests.

She can be polite and charming to men whom she may not care for on first sight because knowing them better may enable her to discover qualities which may interest her.

The shy girl cannot remake her personality for a vacation but she can secure herself of a reasonably good time if she hurdles the first barriers. The follow-up work is important. Having made acquaintance on her vacation, she should try to cultivate them further to increase her circle of friends.

Canada Is Best Customer of U.S.

Domestic Leads May List as U.S. Buyer and Seller

WASHINGTON — Canada was listed as both the best buyer and seller for markets of the United States during May in a detailed study of exports and imports by the Commerce Department.

The study showed that merchandise moving out of the United States to 31 others during May was greater than for the same period of 1935, except to five nations. These were France, Portugal, Iran, the Gold Coast and Jamaica.

May imports, although above 1935 in aggregate, declined from last year's total from more than a score of countries. Chief declines were from Japan, Brazil, Argentina, Netherlands, Chile and Colombia.

For the first five months of this year the 10 best customers of merchandise from this country ranked in order as the United Kingdom, Canada, Japan, France, Germany, Mexico, Cuba, Italy and Australia. Export totals range from more than $158,000,000 to the United Kingdom down to $26,810,000 to Australia.

Imports for the same five month period this year show this country bought from nations of the world in this order: Canada, United Kingdom, Cuba, Japan, British Malaya, Philippines Islands, Brazil, China, Germany and Dutch East Indies.

These ranged from Canadian exports to this country valued at $129,401,000 down to $26,811,000 from Dutch East Indies.

Exports for five months this year were computed at $263,971,000 and imports at $268,400,000.

Noted Clydesdale Breeder Is Dead

Mark Duff, of Myrtle, Has Been Judge at Many Horse Shows

OSHAWA, Ont. — Mark Duff, of Myrtle, 62, known all over Canada as a noted breeder of Clydesdale horses, died in hospital recently after a short illness. He was a past-president of the Clydesdale Horse Breeders' Association of Canada and was a member of the board.

He had acted as judge at all the large horse shows, including those at Toronto, London, Ottawa, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton.

Mr. Duff started as a boy to breed Clydesdale horses and at the time of his death owned one of the best string of Clydesdale geldings in Canada. He won the Saskatchewan shield for the best Clydesdale gelding raised in Canada on two occasions. He also owned the Grand Champion mare at the Royal Winter Fair in 1935.

Great Britain

The London Gazette announced that Duke of York would head committee making plans for the coronation. The committee includes Baldwin, Hoare, Lloyd George, Winston Churchill, Austen and Neville Chamberlain.

The Canadian Society of Agricultural Economics will hold its eighth annual meeting at the University of New Brunswick from July 13 to 16. The session will be held in conjunction with those of the parent organization, the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists.

More Interest In Public Life Urged British Women Tell B. B. C. Their Wants

MONTREAL — Serious living and interest in public as well as domestic affairs on the part of women were urged by Mrs. D. C. McDonald, addressing the Montreal Sisterhood Federation. Mrs. McDonald believed women should be so well trained and instructed they could step in and carry on successfully if war or anything else took men out of the country's everyday activities.

Recalling pioneer days of English settlement in Canada, Mrs. McDonald pointed out that then women helped their husbands in the work of seeding, harvesting, threshing, barn raising and in social activities. "Changes are coming very fast these days," the speaker continued. "Many young women of today have quite different ideals from those of their grandmothers. The question they should study more carefully is whether their service, card playing, cocktail parties and dancing are more conducive to good health, happy homes and the conservation of the resources of industry than the social enjoyments, recreational programs and home life of half a century ago."

Says Keep Calm To Keep Cool
Public Health Head Urges Emotional Serenity

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The advice of the United States Health Service as to what to do to stay comfortable and healthy in hot weather is, first and most important, to "remain emotionally calm."

Dr. Louis Stanley, chief of the Bureau of Home Economics, has some words of advice about keeping cool in hot weather. Fruits and vegetables, she says, should form the largest part of a hot weather diet. They contain built-in water, minerals and vitamins. All this means that the diner satisfies his hunger and gets plenty of nourishment without consuming more heat-making calories than he can comfortably manage in summer.

And don't overeat. It is bad at any time, but especially dangerous in hot weather and defeats your efforts to keep cool. Eat slowly, eat moderately, eat plenty of vegetables and fruit, and avoid all the heavy heat-making foods. Drink plenty of cool water — you need more water in summer, but don't overdo it.

Not weather clothing? Dr. Stanley smiled and gave us a note to Ruth O'Brien, the bureau's expert on clothing and textiles. Her research workers have been accumulating facts on textiles, fabrics and their heat conductivity. Much other information, too, that is mighty interesting to women. But clothing in hot weather? It is obvious that light apparel does much to help one endure the attacks of heat and humidity — "but look at most men," chorused the workers in the department. "They for the most part take slight advantage of the improvements in textures and garments."

Cool clothing in general is made of loosely woven material, is light in color and is cut loosely. The loosely woven fabrics allow a free circulation of air, so essential to carrying off heat and perspiration. The ideal clothing in hot weather gives protection from the rays of the sun while making little contact with the skin. That is why cool garments are cut fuller, and is a good reason for the kind of garments worn in tropical countries.

Color has much to do with comfort, also. Of course you, being well informed, know that dark colors absorb the sun's rays while the light colors reflect the light and heat.

Lady Tweedsmuir Receives Honor

LONDON — Lady Tweedsmuir has been appointed a Dame of Grace of the Order of Saint John of Jerusalem, the Westminster Gazette announced recently.

Persons admitted to this order are "such persons, being subject of the British Crown, and professing the Christian faith, as have performed or are prepared to perform good services for the order and its objects." The objects of the order are the encouragement and promotion of ambulance, hospital and other charitable work.

The order received a Royal charter from Queen Victoria in 1888 as a revival of the military and religious grand priory dissolved by Queen Elizabeth in 1535. His Majesty the King is the Sovereign head of the order.

Voice Pent-up Grievances and Suggestions at Conference

LONDON — In more ways than one the British Broadcasting Corporation got more than it originally bargained for at its conference of women listeners. More, that is to say, numerically, and more critically.

Certainly no sensible woman would miss such an opportunity for voicing pent-up grievances and helpful suggestions, even though they were not within the legitimate scope of scheduled subjects for discussion. All parts of Britain, India, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, and about 10 women's organizations were represented among the 450 delegates.

The morning session was devoted to the question of a suitable time for women's talks, whether cookery and child welfare were valuable subjects for such talks, and whether listeners liked the "Week in Westminster" series. On all points there was a good wrangle. Almost every time of the day was advocated by housewives, domestic servants, hospital nurses, university women, business women, and others. By a majority the meeting favored two o'clock. A solitary hand supported four p.m.

Television Sets To Sell at $250

WASHINGTON — Television sets that can be sold to the public at $250 or less and new improvements in equipment that will expand this field for radio, were described recently at hearings being held by the Federal Communications Commission.

Philip T. Farnsworth, of Philadelphia, vice-president of a television corporation in San Francisco, recounted these advances. He said the public interest in television was such that if any attempt was made to withhold it from the public for perfection, "bootleg operations" would result.

The engineer disputed testimony of previous experts that television must be without flaws before it can be offered to the public. Farnsworth said it was not necessary "that the baby be born with a beard."

He said television stations should be located on the outside of large metropolitan areas and the programs directed "toward the centre of the area" so that "interference will be in one direction."

Broiler Trade In Summer

Probably no phase of the poultry industry is more over-supplied than the broiler trade during the summer months, says the Dominion Department of Agriculture Egg and Poultry Market Report. At one time broilers were scarce and prices paid for chickens of this weight were high. It is evident that this is a trade that can be quickly over-loaded. Rarely does one hear of broilers being used in the home but almost exclusively in the hotel and restaurant trade. One large restaurant organization in Canada is now following the English practice of roasting all chickens over two pounds in weight, and serving half the chicken thus prepared with dressing per person. Experience in this direction, continues the Report, is encouraging and one which might well be followed by other catering organizations, and even featured to advantage by salubrious produce houses in their sales of poultry.

Jock, a Scottish Terrier

K. A. MacInneson, in the Montreal Star.
You greet me every morning with as joyful a surprise
As if I came from Singapore or dropped down from the skies.
You're every bit as lonely when I leave you for a day
As if I strapped my packback for a trip to Mandalay.
But when you know we're going where a heaving, white road lies,
There's heaven in your tilted head and in your eager eyes.
And even when I'm quiet with any paper, pipe and book
There's utter satisfaction in your most sagacious look.
My comrade of the steadfast heart, who knows but there may be Beyond the years a rendezvous for friends like you and I,
And whether you arrive there first or whether it be I
We're hopeful fellow-reverers and we'll never say good-bye.

To Build Pavement To The Whirlpool From Upper Bridge

The Dominion Government and the Niagara Parks Commission will cooperate in the construction of 2.3 miles of pavement from the upper bridge to the whirlpool. It was announced work will start in a few weeks and will be completed by Sept.
1. Cost of the work is estimated at $180,000, of which $60,000 will be paid by the Dominion Government, the remainder being raised by the Parks Commission, which will superintend the work.

Between 200 and 300 men will be employed. The contract will be let of all labor will be from the unemployed list, 25 per cent. from unemployed not on relief and 15 per cent. to be chosen by the contractors.

Woman Rescued From Burning Building Fire At Grassie

Fire, believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion, completely destroyed a barn and contents and two fine buildings, housing 300 chickens belonging to Friedrich Flack-mann at Grassie. The outbreak occurred in the hay mow where only three weeks ago, this year's crop of hay had been stored in the barn. A daughter, Miss Greta, managed to release a horse from the barn.

Mrs. Flackmann is on an effort to free the chickens, after several attempts rushed to the chicken house and dashed into the burning building.
She narrowly escaped death when the door slammed shut and locked her in, but only the quick action of a neighbour, Leslie Yornston, in throwing rocks at the door and breaking in a hole large enough for her escape, saved the screaming woman, who on reaching safety, collapsed.

Yornston received burns about the face while Mrs. Flackmann suffered from shock.
The surrounding fields were so dry that the flames swept over them, scorching a large patch of potatoes and almost reaching the granary. In will be constructed from the park entrance to the whirlpool, the whole length of the new road.

A six-foot elevated promenade will run along the edge of the road and the gorge, and wherever there is overhanging rock, it will be scaled so that sidewalk and road will be on solid rock.

As an added protection to motorists, a double curb will be constructed beside the sidewalk. It is expected that 90 per cent. of the cost of the job will be labor.

HURRICANE LIFTS ROOF

About 7.30 Saturday night, a shower of rain with high wind developed into a hurricane which lifted a flat roof about 40 by 60 feet square from the Caladonia creamery, hurled it 200 feet out on to the Caladonia highway, breaking off an oak tree 20 inches in diameter, snapped off four telephone poles, disrupted Hydro wires and put Caladonia in darkness for three hours.

45 minutes from the time the fire started the buildings lay in a mass of ruins. Neighbors stood watch during the night to prevent further outbreaks.
